We do not store photocopies of your ID, passport or driver's license to identify you.
To whom do we transfer your personal data?	Your personal data may be transferred to that data protection authority in the event of any action by the competent data protection authority (especially in the event of a data breach, if the gravity and nature of this so require).

In addition to the above, the Controller will display advertisements on its Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/polgarima>) in connection with which it processes the personal data of its Facebook page visitors. You can find more information about this in the Controller's cookie policy:

https://europeuncensored.com/wwwroot/assets/media/pdf/cookie_policy_eng.pdf

In connection with the above data processing of the Controller via Facebook, the Controller and Facebook Ireland Limited (4 Grand Canal Square, Dublin, Ireland) shall be considered as joint data controllers, so that the data subjects may exercise the data protection (data protection)) rights set out in this Notice vis-à-vis either at the Controller or at Facebook Ireland Limited. In other cases, Facebook acts as an independent data controller and is independently responsible for the data processing it performs through Facebook. For more information, see Facebook's Privacy Policy (<https://en-en.facebook.com/privacy/explanation>) and Terms of Use (<https://en-en.facebook.com/legal/terms>).

3. What rights and remedies do you have concerning the Controller's data processing activities?

There will be no charge for responding to your privacy requests or for completing the request. When your request concerning the exercise of your data protection rights and remedies are manifestly unfounded or excessive (repeated) we may charge you an administrative fee to comply with the request, and – taking into account the administrative costs of providing the information or communication or taking the action requested – may refuse to act on the request.

The data protection rights and remedies of data subjects (including you if your personal data are processed by the Controller) are detailed in the relevant provisions of the GDPR (including in particular GDPR 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 21, 77, 78, 79, 80 and 82). The following is a summary of the most important provisions and, accordingly, the Controller provides information to those concerned about their data protection rights and remedies.

The Controller shall provide information on action taken on a request under Art. 15 to 22 of the GDPR to the data subject without undue delay and in any event within one month of receipt of the request. That period may be extended by two further months where necessary, taking into account the complexity and number of the requests. The Controller shall inform the data subject of any such extension within one month of receipt of the request, together with the reasons for the delay. Where the data subject makes the request by electronic form means, the information shall be provided by electronic means where possible, unless otherwise requested by the data subject.

If the Controller does not take action on the request of the data subject, the Controller shall inform the data subject without delay and at the latest within one month of receipt of the request of the reasons for not taking action and on the possibility of lodging a complaint with a supervisory authority and seeking a judicial remedy.

The information shall be provided in writing, or by other means, including, where appropriate, by electronic means. When requested by the data subject, the information may be provided orally, provided that the identity of the data subject is proven by other means (please, see above for more details).

The data protection rights and remedies of data subjects are detailed in the table below.
